- Notice Details: For example, here is what Josh W. observed in the image above:
- It appears in this picture that a man is trying not to drown in some kind of sewer, and he seems quite in danger because of the frightened look on his face. However, maybe it's some sort of public punishment because the police are just looking at him while driving by and then walking by, while random people to the left don't seem to care either. It also looks like the area he is in has been barred off, so maybe nobody is allowed to help him. The place seems to not be the richest place on earth, this area is quite worn down, and it seems Latin because of the writing on the police's shirt. It is also possible that he is seeking refuge from the police, but he has failed as they have found him.
- This image comes from the Lens post "Challenging an Old Narrative in Latin American Photojournalism." The caption begins:
- Fermin Pena attempts to repair a broken pipe in Caracas, Venezuela.
- We asked the photographer, Rodrigo Abd, for the backstory on this image:
- I left the AP office in downtown Caracas, and I jumped on a motorbike taxi – the only way to move in Caracas as a journalist – to try to find some daily life pictures for the wire, basically trying to describe the mood of the people days before the presidential elections.
- Only two blocks from the office I suddenly saw this incredible situation, so I jumped off the motorbike to document the scene. It was surreal, this guy, almost covered by water, trying to fix a public tube. I spent almost 20 minutes there until the man finished his work.
- For me it was a symbolic image of the political situation in Venezuela, where millions are trying not to drown in the multiple problems facing the South American country, amid the fighting between the government and the opposition that seems to worsen every day.
- The photograph was taken on September 26, 2012, and won second place in the Everyday Life category in the Pictures of the Year Latin America 2013 contest.

They are kneeling upright on a flowered bed

He

has just caught her there and holds her still

Her gown

has slipped down
off her shoulder

He has an urgent hunger

His dark head
bends to hers
hungrily

And the woman the woman turns her tangerine lips from his one hand like the head of a dead swan draped down over his heavy neck

the fingers
strangely crimped
tightly together

her other arm doubled up against her tight breast

her hand a languid claw clutching his hand

which would turn her mouth
to his

Gold garlands

stream down over

her bare calves &
tensed feet

They

are silent together

as in a flowered field
upon the summer couch
which must be hers

And he holds her still

so passionately
holds her head to his so gently so insistently
to make her turn her lips to his

MAGIC! LYRICS "Rude"

Saturday morning jumped out of bed
And put on my best suit
Got in my car and raced like a jet
All the way to you
Knocked on your door with heart in my hand
To ask you a question
'Cause I know that you're an old-fashioned man, yeah Can I have your daughter for the rest of my life? Say yes, say yes 'cause I need to know You say I'll never get your blessing 'til the day I die Tough luck, my friend, but the answer is 'No'

Why you gotta be so rude? Don't you know I'm human too? Why you gotta be so rude? I'm gonna marry her anyway

Marry that girl
Marry her anyway Marry that girl
Yeah, no matter what you say Marry that girl
And we'll be a family Why you gotta be so Rude

Feel v. concerned about the girl who the song Rude is about. What's her POV? Has she even consented to marrying a Canadian reggae singer?
